THREE WELLINGTON PAINTERS

THIS EXHIBITION is the first of a series planned for 1959, in which it is hoped to present a continuous exhibition of painting, pottery and sculpture by contemporary New Zealand artists.

These three young Wellington painters were all born in the first half of the nineteen-thirties. All three attended classes at the Wellington Technical College and completed the Diploma course at the Canterbury School of Art, Michael Clark in 1954, William Main and Gordon Brown in 1955. Apart from William Main, none of these painters has previously exhibited in Auckland.
