
MINA ARNDT

1885—1926

INTRODUCTION

HERMINA ARNDT was born in 1885 at Thurlby Domain, near Queenstown, in the South Island. In the early 1900's she left for Europe and first studied painting in London with Brangwyn, Stanhope Forbes and George Lambert. It seems probable that in 1906 she met the German engraver Herman Struck who visited England about that year. Struck, who was born in 1876, studied the graphic arts under Hans Meyer, and had travelled in Europe and the near east. It seems likely that he invited Mina Arndt to Berlin, where she studied etching with him. The most interesting association she had, however, was with Lovis Corinth (1858-1925). Corinth, whose reputation has only grown in the past few years, was an important member of the Modern Movement in Germany, working as he did through the transitional years from 19th Century Realism and Impressionism to the characteristic expressionist style of his late landscapes in the twenties. Corinth worked first in Munich but eventually moved to Berlin, then the artistic centre, in 1900. In 1901 he opened an art school in Klopstockstrasse and it was here that Mina Arndt became his pupil. Much of her work bears the stamp of his influence both in choice of subject and in the brush work.

Mina Arndt returned to New Zealand on the outbreak of war but previous to that she spent some time in Paris, for she exhibited a painting 'The Model' in 1913 at the Artistes Francais.

In 1916 she married Mr. L. Manoy and went to live in Motueka. There she continued to paint and exhibit and her style became more quiet and higher in key. She died tragically early, in 1926. It is hoped therefore that this exhibition will do something to restore her name and work to the account of XXth Century New Zealand painting.

We are grateful to all the lenders of works for this exhibition, particularly to Miss May Manoy and Mr. John Manoy whose enthusiasm has made it possible.

We must also thank Mr. Stewart MacLennan, Director of the National Gallery, who has selected these works from the large retrospective exhibition held by the New Zealand Academy of Fine Arts in Wellington, June-July 1961.
